Graue Mill Country Condominium IV Association

August 15, 1997

TO: All Owners at
Graue Mill Country Condominium IV Association

FROM: Board of Directors

Dear Owners:

As many of you know, we have been working for some time on clarifying the Association's rights and responsibilities with regard to maintenance of the buildings and open spaces at our Association. The project has been undertaken with the consultation of the Association's management company and attorney.

This project began initially when a number of questions were raised regarding whether the Association or the individual owners were responsible for maintaining and/or paying for individual items. In addition, a substantial issue arose over whether our Association or the Graue Mill Homeowners Association was responsible for maintaining certain exterior areas, particularly in the areas around and including the balconies and patios.

After extensive work by the Association's attorney, we have been able to come up with the attached chart, explaining who is responsible for maintaining and paying for the various items at the Association. Please note that this list is not intended to create any substantive changes in responsibilities, but is rather an attempt to "fill in the gaps" and provide interpretation for the gray areas which have existed in Association documents.

Some of the maintenance items have been effectuated through the work of the Association's attorney and the developer of the last units to convey certain property to our Association and to the Homeowners Association. By definition in the documents, this means that our Association will have control over the patios and patio areas, with the Homeowners Association responsible for maintaining all landscaping. Again, this was the intent of the original plan at Graue Mill and our role in this has merely been to effectuate that intent. In no way will any of the interpretations set forth in the attached document reduce the level of service to which you are accustomed as owners.

The following is a brief summary of the changes and clarifications set forth in this chart:

The items listed under Common Area are the responsibility of the Graue Mill Homeowners Association. Those listed as Common Elements are the responsibility of the Graue Mill IV Association, while the unit items your individual responsibility. The Limited Common Elements will either be the responsibility of the Graue Mill IV Association, or, upon Board designation, will be delegated to the individual owners.

In the Limited Common Elements section, at the present time, the Board will be maintaining, repairing and replacing these items, and charging back individual owners for the costs, with the exception of the courtyard plantings, which are delegated to the individual owners. A homeowner who wishes to undertake directly maintenance, repair or replacement of a Limited Common Element (other than the plantings in the courtyard) must contact the Condominium IV Board for prior approval.

We hope that this list will be helpful to you in determining your rights and responsibilities at the Association. As always, please do not hesitate to let us know if you have any questions.

Respectfully submitted

Board of Directors, Graue Mill Country
Condominium IV Association
